TEAM TRANEL: $15,000 Cash on Hand

Cuba City, WI – Farmer and small business owner Travis Tranel has just over $15,000 cash on hand for his campaign to be the next State Representative of the 49th Assembly District. Tranel must first win a 3 person Republican Primary on September 9th in order to challenge current State Representative Phil Garthwaite in the November General Election. The Tranel campaign reported a total of $15,089.60 cash on hand, according to a financial report that was filed with the State Elections Board. The July Continuing Campaign Finance Report was due on July 21, 2008.

“I am grateful for all of my friends and neighbors who have responded to my message of lower taxes, affordable health care, strong independent leadership, great schools, and the need for protecting the values we hold dear in Southwest Wisconsin,” said Tranel.

The campaign funds will surely come in handy as the September 9th Republican Primary quickly approaches, and takes place in less than 45 days. The campaign intends to use the funds to continue to spread its positive message and to continue to expand Team Tranel.

“I want to bring back representation we can all be proud of. After doing thousands of doors, it is becoming obvious that people are looking for a change in politics. The citizens know we can do better! Together, we can make Wisconsin stronger for generations to come. This why I am strongly committed to working hard each and every day to make Southwest Wisconsin a better place live, work, and raise a family,” said Tranel.

Dennis Lundell, of Livingston, has just over $5,000 cash on hand according to his campaign’s July Continuing Report. David Kuhle, of Hazel Green, has just over $2,000 cash on hand according to the Elections Board.
